NARRATIVE

The enumerator for Jefferson Township, situated in Grant County, and designated as Enumeration District 27 in the 4th Supervisor's District of Indiana, began work on the morning of Tuesday, April 8, at 407 Wilson Street, in the town of Jackson. On the six previous days he had enumerated 250 families, occupying 219 dwellings, which had completely filled 10 sheets, making this the 11th. He had also enumerated 5 farms.

 At 407 Wilson Street the enumerator saw Mr. Henry T. Dumond, a World War veteran, who said his family consisted of his wife, himself, and four children. He said he owned the house, on which there was a small mortgage, and had lived there 10 years; that he was cashier in the Farmers' Bank. He was born in Annapolis, Md., in December, 1887. His father was also born in Maryland but his mother was born in New York. Mrs. Dumond, whose given name is Elizabeth, Anne, was born and educated in Indianapolis, Ind. The children were born in the house where they are now living. Mrs. Dumond's mother was born in Scotland and her father in Illinois. She was 38 on her last birthday. The oldest son, John J., was 14 on his last birthday and was in his second year at high school. Little Henry was 6 on his last birthday and did not go to school. Anne Louisa was born on November 20, 1927, and the baby, Joan, was born on April 5, 1930. Mrs. Dumond keeps house and has a servant, but the servant goes home every night. Mr. Dumond was getting ready to go down to the bank when the enumerator called.
 At 409 Wilson Street the servant asked the enumerator if he would like to see the head of the family. Rev. W. J. Allen, saying that Mrs. Allen was away at work. Mr. Allen said his household consisted of himself, his wife, Margaret E., his adopted son, Julian, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary L. Palmer. The servant also lived on the premises. Mr. Allen was born in Canada in September, 1876, but came to the United States in 1893 and was graduated from Bowdoin College in 1898. He became a citizen of the United States in 1909, but had never had any military service. He said he was now pastor of the Congregational Church. His father and mother were born in England but came to Canada in 1879, where they are still living. His wife was born in Bath, Me., in June, 1888. Her father, who was dead, was born in Massachusetts and her mother in Connecticut. Her mother's parents were born in Northern Ireland. Her mother, Mrs. Palmer, was 65 on her last birthday. She made her home permanently with him and had general supervision of the house, as Mrs. Allen was secretary of the Y. W. C. A. and had to be away from home all day. Mrs. Palmer had lived on her son's farm until 9 months ago, when she came to live with her daughter. She and her daughter are both well educated. Julian, Mr. Allen's adopted son, was 19 years of age and was away at college. Julian was born in Indiana and so were his own parents. The servant, Jane Brown, is a Negro. She was divorced from her husband 2 years ago; she was 25 on February 2, 1930, and can read but not write. She was born in Maryland and her father and mother were born there, too. She had been with the Allen's for 18 months. Mr. Allen had lived here in the parsonage furnished by the church for 5 years. The occupants of the next house, No. 411, were a bachelor brother and an unmarried sister, John Andrew White, Jr., and Sarah Andrew White, and a roomer, Joseph Cortel.

The enumerator saw Miss White, who kept house for her brother, and she said that her father, who lived with them, had died 5 days before on his 91st birthday. He was a retired physician. Both he and his parents were born in Yonkers, N. Y. His given name was John Andrew, too. Her mother was a French-Canadian by birth and had been dead several years. Her brother was the head of the family and owned the house free of debt. They had lived in this house 12 years. He was a building contractor (being on a job at that time) and was 50 years old on his last birthday. Both he and his sister were born and educated in Chicago, Ill. They, of course, can read and write, and speak English. Mr. White was a soldier in the Spanish-American War and his father was a veteran of the Civil War. Miss White said she did not mind telling her age, that she was 32 on January 7, but she did not want the enumerator to tell her age to anyone, as the neighbors were curious to know whether she or her brother was the older. The enumerator assured her that all the information collected at the census was strictly confidential. Miss White said the roomer, Mr. Cortel, who had been with them for 2 years, was 28 years old and unmarried. He was born in New Jersey but he did not know where his parents were born, except that they were born in the United States. She said he had been a prescription clerk in the drug store, but had been out of work for 3 weeks. He was looking for a job now. She said Mr. Cortel was not an ex-serviceman. Miss White has no occupation outside her household duties.

At the end of the street is a farm of 59 acres which is within the corporate limits of Jackson. It has 2 houses on it, both of which front on Oak Road. The farm is owned, free of encumbrance, by John E. Mason, who occupies the large house with his wife, Katherine L. Mason. Mr. Mason and his father were both born on the farm. His mother was born in Tennessee, and so was his wife. His wife's father was born in Georgia and her mother in Wales. Mrs. Mason was 64 in October and Mr. Mason was 70 on April 6, 1930. Mr. and Mrs. Mason are both well educated people. They have been married 30 years and have lived on the farm all of their married life. Mr. Mason farms the land himself and has one hired man, Jim Hunter, a Negro, who had lived with his mulatto wife, Ella, in the small house on the far corner of the farm for several years. While Jim pays no actual rent for the house, he renders service in place of rent. Jim and Ella are both 25 years of age, and can both read and write and speak English. Jim was born in Indiana and his parents were born in Maryland, while Ella and her parents were born in Ohio. Ella is employed as a servant by Mrs. Mason, but Mrs. Mason has no occupation outside the home. Mr. Mason was at work when the enumerator called and so were Jim and Ella. The Masons have no children living at home. Mrs. Mason's niece, Mary L. Wilson, 10 years old, of St. Louis, Mo., is spending two months with her aunt. Neither Mr. Mason or Jim have had any military service. This farm completes the enumeration of the town of Jackson.
